

HSMAI Student

HSMAI Student is a forum created to give students in hotel, travel and tourism management an opportunity to network with students across Europe, as well as with industry professionals. Run by the students and supervised by HSMAI Europe, the forum will offer excellent opportunities for professional development for the students.

Follow our Facebook and LinkedIn groups to initiate or participate in discussions, and to receive news on the latest events. Whether you are an experienced professional or a first-year student, your comments, questions and insights are much appreciated.

Here's what one of our students have to say about HSMIAI Student:

As a student, it's important for me to see what the latest trends and thoughts are in the industry, not just what is written in our curriculum. Networking, gatherings and events are what is needed to stay at the top of our game, and the experiences we make when meeting industry professionals can easlily be used in our studies. This is where I feel HSMIAI Student really can be up to the task. With an attitude of being involving, inspiring and to be actual, HSMIAI Student creates the perfect meeting place for students and the industry. We can share thoughts, discuss diffirent topics and litterature, and together create an even better springboard into a career in hospitality for students all over Europe.

– Hans Stenseng, student at Oslo School of Management
